TAKE STEPS TO IMPROVE CONDITIONS

Under Which Commerce Of United States Moves To Neutrals

NETHERLANDS, ITALY AND ENGLAND IN AGREEMENT.

WILL NOT INTERFERE

Some of the Complaints Made to Great Britain In Recent Note of United States, Will Be Remedied By Action of Three Countries, As to Search of Vessels.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Washington, Jan. 7.—Hope was expressed in administration circles here today that American commerce with Scandinavian nations and other neutral nations would be improved as the result of steps taken by Great Britain, Italy and the Netherlands whereby commerce to the latter two countries from the United States would undergo but little interference in the future. The action of the three countries remedies some of the complaints made by this government in its recent note to Great Britain, the basis of which was the holding up of ships on the high seas with cargoes from the United States destined for European nations.

Statements given out last night by both the British embassy and the state department were the first inkling of another step forward by Great Britain in efforts to solve the controversy which has arisen between that country and the United States regarding seizure of American shipments. The statements set forth that so far as Italy and Holland are concerned, Great Britain has become convinced that the danger of getting contraband articles through those two countries to Germany and Austria has been practically removed.

It was pointed out that if effective measures be agreed upon between the allies and the other neutrals of Europe, shipments from this country could proceed without further interference and the delays to which they have been subjected in the past.

Coincidentally with the announcement of the steps taken by Great Britain, Italy and the Netherlands, the state department received a cable from American Minister Van Dyke at The Hague, to the effect that the British, French and Russian minister had given formal assurances that merchandise even of a contraband nature, when consigned to the recently established Netherlands monopoly, would not be molested on the high seas.

FIREMEN ESCAPE DEATH ALMOST MIRACULOUSLY

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Cleveland, Jan. 8.—Six firemen were injured, three seriously, and several families were driven into the street in night attire early today when fire to night destroyed a two story factory and store room building on Broadway and menaced surrounding dwellings.

The firemen were bruised when a roof caved in and the escape from death is considered remarkable. The property loss is estimated at $10,000.

Attorney-General Calls Drys' Suit a Travesty On Morality and Justice

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Columbus, Jan. 8.—If the home rule amendment adopted at the November election is valid, citizens have a right "to pass another constitutional amendment that would repeal all our statutes on larceny, embezzlement, burglary and even murder, except on vote of citizens of a municipality or township according to the argument of Wayne B. Wheeler superintendent and counsel for the Anti-Saloon League before the Supreme court today in the suit of Charles S. Hockett, of Bellefontaine, to test the validity of the home rule amendment. The suit seeks to enjoin the state liquor licensing board from appointing license officials in counties made wet by the amendment.

A. J. Miller of Bellefontaine, counsel for Hockett, urged that there was no legal machinery for submitting the amendment.

Judson Harmon, former governor, replied to the arguments of Wheeler and Miller by saying the Anti-Saloon forces are "looking through a gimlet hole" to find flaws in the Woodrow Wilson, president of the United States passed through Newark this morning at 7.45 o'clock, being aboard No. 7, on the Pennsylvania railway. The train was a "double-header," that is, carried two engines. It consisted of a combination baggage car, four coaches and a private car for the President.

The train stopped in this city for about eight minutes for the engines to take water and for the discharge and boarding of passengers. It was greeted by a fair-sized crowd of men and women who gathered at the Second street crossing, the President's car having stopped at that point.

Several of the Chief Executive's retinue came out upon the platform and asked about the city, its size, etc. One then stated that the President would appear and just as soon as the train started Mr. Wilson stepped out on the car platform and waved greetings at the crowd. He was dressed in an English walking coat with steel gray trousers and a big, broad smile illuminated his countenance. It was one of those smiles that impressed one with sincerity and made friends of those who came within its influence.

President Wilson in life conveys a much better impression than do his pictures. He is tall, well proportioned and better looking than his pictures make him. He remained on the platform until after the train had passed and evidently fearing the early morning air retired into the car.

President Wilson was on his way to Indianapolis where he addressed a Jackson Day banquet this afternoon.

Indianapolis, Jan. 8.—Four busy hours await President Wilson when he arrived here this afternoon to address a public meeting arranged by the Indiana Democratic club in celebration of Jackson Day. He spoke in a hall which will seat more than 4,000 persons.

The President, on his arrival about 2 o'clock was met by the members of the Democratic club, in sixty automobiles. While no arrangements had (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1.)

Officers and Men of Jewish Regiment Fighting for England.

Reports from the British recruiting offices have it that the Jews of England have come forward to enlist just as well as other races and classes in the United Kingdom. This photograph shows officers and men of a newly formed Jewish regiment. The second man from the left in the bottom row is Private Freshwater. The third from the left is Dr. Adler, chaplain of the newly formed regiment. The fourth is Lieutenant Levy, who however, belongs to the Gordon Highlanders. He rose from the ranks in that regiment.

BRITISH REPLY IS FORWARDED TO WASHINGTON

OFFICIALS BELIEVE ENGLAND WILL RECOGNIZE REASONABLENESS OF DEMANDS

In View of the Emergency That Called For Protest From United States.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

London, Jan. 8.—Ambassador Page today received from the British government the preliminary reply to the American note protesting against British interference with American shipping. He forwarded it immediately to Washington.

The time of delivery of the more definite supplementary reply which the British government is to make is uncertain.

It probably will be within two weeks. Further negotiations between the two governments concerning specific cases of detention of American vessels will precede the preparation of the final British answer.

SECRETARY BRYAN EXPECTS TO RECEIVE THE NOTE TONIGHT

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Washington, Jan. 8.—Secretary Bryan and other officials today awaited receipt of the British government's preliminary reply to the recent American note on the subject of interference with shipping.

At noon it had not been received but officials expected that with prompt transmission it would be uncoded, and before then by night. Consultation between Sir Cecil Spring Rice, the British ambassador, Secretary Bryan and Counselor Lansing have caused the latter to believe the British government would recognize the emergency which existed as indicated in the American note. It has been understood here that the reply would not be completely responsive; in the first place, because the legal propositions advanced by the United States though not new, and in fact, once partially accepted, have since been made subjects of controversy, and are not generally accepted as binding by all maritime powers.

It is believed that in the preliminary note Great Britain has recognized the reasonableness of the American protest and has promised to reduce the annoyance to the smallest degree, particularly because it has practically completed arrangements with the neutral states of Europe which will prevent American supplies from getting through to Germany and Austria.

OHIO RIVER RISING NO DANGER FEARED.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Huntington, W. Va., Jan. 8.—The stage of the Ohio river here this morning was 17.6 feet, a rise of more than five feet in twenty-four hours, and the stream was still rising rapidly from the water pouring out of Kanawha and Guyandotte rivers. Despite the rapid rise, six inches an hour this morning, river men see little probability of the danger stage, 51 feet, being reached here.

POSTMASTERS NAMED.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Washington, Jan. 8.—Among the nominations sent to the senate by President Wilson today were: James E. Sullivan, Lima, O.; C. D. Corbin, Ashtabula, O., to be postmasters. Charles E. Manley, of Fairmont, W. Va., was also nominated.

Eleven Years' Old Girl Is Brutally Assaulted By A Negro; May be Lynching

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Portsmouth, Jan. 8.—Posses of citizens are searching today for an unidentified negro, who last night brutally assaulted Zelma Arthurs, eleven years' old and left her unconscious in an alley near her home in the North End.

The entire police force assisted by county authorities has instigated a search for the negro. A valuable clue has been supplied. The crime was one of the most dastardly in the history of this city. The little girl, who is rather small for her age had been asked by her father to go to the grocery two squares away. Failing to return in half an hour, Mr. Arthurs, asked his oldest son, Harry, to go out and look for his sister. The boy went directly to the grocery and learned that his sister had left there some time before.

The father then started in search of the child. As he crossed the railroad tracks a few rods from his home she came to him from the end of the alley which ends on the railroad a short distance from the family home. Blood was streaming from her and her torn and bloody clothing quickly told the story which she was soon able to supplement. Mr. Arthurs hurried the child into a nearby store where her story aroused great indignation. The community, negroes included, immediately joined in a search for the girl's assailant which continued throughout the night. The section of the city where the Arthurs' family lives is largely occupied by negroes. Regardless of race, however, they are greatly wrought up over the assault on the child and "lynch" was heard at many places.

VILLA'S ARMY ATTACKED BY CARRANZA'S

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Laredo, Texas, Jan. 8.—An attack on Villa troops in Saltillo was begun by about 15,000 constitutionalist troops about 3 a. m. today. Early reports from the battle said that hundreds already had been killed or wounded. The Carranza forces were attacking from mountains about the city and were pouring in a fire from fifteen cannon.

The Villa troops occupied Saltillo two days ago by a trick and without fighting. The Carranza forces under General Antonio J. Villalaz had evacuated the city to proceed against Villa forces which they met and defeated at Lajisa and Marte. Meanwhile, however, another Villa force had marched through the mountains to the southeast of Saltillo and entered the city. The Carranza army returned in force early today.

Reports at noon from Carranza sources claimed that the advantage lay with the besiegers but that the battle is still raging. Saltillo is about 150 miles from the American border in the state of Coahuila, where Carranza started his revolution.

CANADA HAS EXPRESSED HER REGRET

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Ottawa, Jan. 8.—Canadian government authorities have forwarded to the United States government at Washington formal expressions of regret on the part of the Dominion of Canada for the killing of Walter Smith and the wounding of Charles Dorsch by Canadian militiamen. The Dominion government also has offered to compensate the wounded man and the family of the dead man.

The course of the Canadian government, it was said, was pursued as "an act of grace," and was not necessarily an admission of liability.

ARREST OF SOLDIERS FOR MANSLAUGHTER

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Toronto, Ont., Jan. 8.—A provincial constable, a corporal and two privates were arrested at Fort Erie on warrants issued at the instance of the attorney general of the province of Ontario, charging them with manslaughter in connection with the death of Walter Smith and wounding of Charles Dorsch, American citizens at Fort Erie on December 28 last. The men are held without bail.

U. S. FORMAL NOTE TRANSMITTED BY THE BRITISH AMBASSADOR

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Washington, Jan. 8.—The British government today was in receipt of a formal note from the United States government asking that the Canadian militiamen who shot and killed Walter Smith and wounded Charles Dorsch, American citizens, at Fort Erie, Ont., while duck hunting in alleged violation of the Canadian game laws, be punished.

The communication which was of a friendly nature was transmitted to Great Britain through the British ambassador, Sir Cecil Spring Rice.

ARTILLERY DUELS ARE PREVAILING

Everywhere In the Areas Of Hostilities, According To Reports

GEN. VON HINDENBURG WITH REINFORCEMENTS WILL MAKE ONE MORE EFFORT

To Break Through to the Polish Capital—French and English Put Little Confidence In Germany's Denial of the Cardinal Mercier Incident In Belgium.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

London, Jan. 8.—Aside from the continued Russian pursuit of the Turkish forces defeated in the Caucasus, and the continuation of the Russian advance through the passes of the Carpathian mountains, siege warfare with intermittent artillery duels seems for the moment to prevail almost everywhere in the area of hostilities in the eastern arena as well as in the western. The reports reaching London show that General von Hindenburg, the German commander in Poland, for some time past has made no appreciable progress toward Warsaw, the mud of Poland evidently having done for him what the broken dikes and the resultant inundations did for the Germans in west Flanders. A dispatch coming to London from Copenhagen declares that von Hindenburg is expecting heavy reinforcements and that with an army of one million men he purposes to make one more supreme effort to break through the Polish capital. The Russians would appear to have had ample time to reinforce themselves and to strengthen their positions around Warsaw and it is the opinion of British observers that the trench warfare, for which the western theatre of the war has become famous will be waged in the region of the Polish rivers.

Austria-Hungary again admits the retirement of her forces in Bukovina and it is now believed in this Russian forward movement before which the Austrians are giving way that the most spectacular developments of the next fortnight may be expected to spring, according to the opinion held today by some British observers of the war. The argument is made that once Russia gets good foothold beyond the mountain passes, something that may be accomplished in a fortnight, if the Russians are not checked, a big stride toward the overrunning of Hungary would have been made. If this is accomplished it will be the first considerable invasion of any territory of the Teutonic allies.

Both British and French newspapers continue to agitate the alleged arrest by the German authorities in Belgium of Cardinal Mercier. The Germans have been quick to deny that the cardinal has in any way been detained. The London papers, nevertheless, still give great prominence to the incident and publish the pastoral letter of the cardinal which was said to have given offense to the Germans, appending to it comments gathered far and wide from prominent clergymen and others. They also cast doubt on the German denial, and declare it will require a statement from the cardinal himself to clear the matter up.

German Artillery Showed Great Activity In Belgium Throughout January 7.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Paris, Jan. 8.—The French war office gave out an official statement this afternoon as follows:

"The artillery of the enemy showed, during all the day of January 7, great activity in Belgium and in the vicinity of Arras. The French artillery responded promptly and efficaciously.

"Our infantry made some progress near Lombaertzyde. We occupied at a point fifty yards in advance of our trenches a hillock which has been held by the enemy to the east of St. Georges, we gained ground and we inflicted serious damage on the trenches of the enemy in the vicinity of Steenstrate.

"In the Sector of Arras, at the forest of Rerthonval without being attacked, we attacked, but were compelled to evacuate certain trenches where our men were up to their shoulders in sand and water. To the left of Boisselle our line of trenches has been moved forward and we occupied the road from Boisselle to Aveluy.

"In the valley of the Aisne the artillery exchanges yesterday were quite severe.

"Our heavy artillery secured good results near Blanc Sablon. At this point the mine throwers of the enemy inflicted losses on us, but in the afternoon we checked this fire from the Germans.

Instances of Cruelty Of German Troops In Belgium, Toward Clergy

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
London, Jan. 8.—At the request of the Belgian legation in London the British press bureau today issued detailed allegations of the maltreatment of Catholic clergy in Belgium and the destruction of their institutions by German troops.

This statement says that churches and religious houses were destroyed or profaned in almost every village and in many towns where the German troops passed. In most cases the edifices were utilized as stables and prisons, and when not placed in safe hiding the sacred vessels were stolen.

The statement makes the declaration that members of the clergy have been exposed to special indignities at the hands of German soldiers. In the diocese of Liege, Namur, Malines and Ghent many priests and others connected with the churches were either shot or hanged. Many other priests were carried off to Germany where they appear to have been subjected to "unbearable usage."

The following specific instances are given in the statement of the press bureau:

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

"August 27.—An American and a Spanish priest, among a group of seventy civilians, were being dragged about from place to place all day and molested, insulted and threatened with military execution. They were taken to the church at Camp Enhout and shut up for the night.

"August 21.—The priest of Ducloux, an invalid, 87 years old, suffering from disease, was accused by the Germans of having fired on them. He was arrested, hoisted on a cannon, tossed into a ditch, tortured and shot.

"A witness deposes that he saw the priest, Gelrode, brought into Aershot, August 24, with three wounded men. The Germans said he was an English spy, and took him to the town hall. The following day they beat him with rifle butts and then on the Demer bridge they shot him 'unbearable usage.' (Continued on Page 11, Col. 1.)

Dandruff Soon Ruins The Hair

Girls—if you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't. It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips. By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.

FRENCH REPORT

blew up a block house and occupied a new trench 200 yards in advance of our lines.

"The artillery engagement between Batheny and Prunay was conducted yesterday with great fierceness. The Germans left many dead on the field; our losses were not heavy. Between Jonechery Sur Suippe and Souain, we time and again reduced to silence artillery of the enemy, demolished his trenches and destroyed his breastworks.

"In the Argonne, to the west of Haute Chevauchée, the enemy, by means of a mine, blew up some of our first line trenches which were completely demolished. A violent attack undertaken at once by the enemy on our positions, was repulsed with the bayonet. We took some prisoners and we maintained our front except for a distance of 80 yards. Here the demolition of the trenches obliged us to establish our line 20 yards further back.

"On the heights of the Meuse and between the Meuse and the Moselle, there is nothing to report. Here the wind blew a tempest all day long Jan. 7.

"Our offensive continued yesterday in the region of Thann and near Altkirch and brought important results. We re-occupied the trenches on the eastern flank of 'hill 125,' a position where the enemy two days ago succeeded in re-establishing himself. We then gained some ground to the east of these trenches. Further to the south, we occupied Burnhaupt le Haut, and at the same time we made progress in the direction of Pont d'Aspach and the Kthalberg.

"The artillery of the enemy, which had endeavored without success, to reach our batteries, gave over shooting at our artillery in favor of the exclusive bombardment of the hospital at Thann, which has been evacuated."

been made for a parade, the sixty automobiles escorted the President to the home of United States Senator John W. Kern, where a luncheon was tendered him.

From the luncheon, the President was taken immediately to Tomlinson Hall where he began his speech at about 3 o'clock.

Dick Miller, president of the Indiana Democratic club called the meeting to order and turned over the gavel to Governor Samuel M. Ralston, who introduced the President.

The members of the Indiana legislature, which convened here yesterday, including the 47 Republicans and two Progressives, arranged to attend the meeting in a body.

After a speech a reception will be held for the President at the Indiana Democratic club rooms.

The announcement that President Wilson would speak here today has aroused much interest throughout the state and large delegations began arriving early this morning.

WILSON ASSURED FUNDS WILL COME FOR CANAL OPENING

(Associated Press Telegram) Washington, Jan. 8.—Administration officials were going ahead today with plans for the celebration incident to the formal opening of the Panama canal next March, making virtually certain that funds necessary therefore would be forthcoming from congress.

Assurance to this effect practically was given to President Wilson by Democratic and Republican leaders in congress who were summoned to the White House late yesterday to confer with him relative to the celebration. The president outlined to the delegation tentative plans for the celebration which has been laid before him by Secretaries Bryan, Garrison and Daniels calling for an estimated appropriation of $250,000 to defray expenses of the celebration, and he asked that this amount be provided for by congress.

The delegation approved the plans and expenditures.

Plans for the celebration includes the entertainment of visiting officers of foreign fleets, which are to participate in the naval review and pass through the canal, if that is possible, and the transportation of the fleet and visitors.

It was also agreed that despite the possibility that the naval parade through the canal cannot be held, as suggested recently by Colonel Goethals because of slides, preparations should be gone ahead without regard to such a contingency.

100 YEARS' PEACE WITH ENGLAND IS CELEBRATED TODAY

(Associated Press Telegram)

New Orleans, Jan. 8.—Celebration of the centenary of peace between Great Britain and the United States was begun here today with a salute of 21 guns timed to end 100 years, to the moment after Andrew Jackson triumphed over the British army at Chalmette. Other ceremonies of the three days' celebration included the unveiling of a statue of Jackson on the spot where the general had his standard at Chalmette and the formal exchange of greetings between Assistant Secretary Peters of the treasury department who is President Wilson's personal representative and the envoy of King George, Consul Carew Hunt. Many prominent Canadian and American peace advocates were here for the series of exercises which were to take place at sites and in buildings made famous by events of a century ago.

SERBIA REPORTS BATTLE RESUMED ALONG THE FRONT

(Associated Press Telegram)

Paris, Jan. 8.—Fighting has been resumed on the Serbian front, according to an official communication issued at Nish, Serbia, and forwarded to the Havas agency here. The fighting in which the Serbians were victors, according to the statement, occurred near Belgrade. The communication follows:

"Strong forces of the enemy occupied the small island of Ada Tighia, near Belgrade, on January 3. Small detachments of our troops surprised and routed the Austrians during the night of January 4th, capturing 45 soldiers, a sergeant-major and two sergeants. Our loss was insignificant.

"Beyond this engagement there is nothing important to report on any of the fronts."

HEROIC

DEATH OF SECOND GRANDSON OF ITALY'S PATRIOT, GARIBALDI TO FALL IN WAR

Bullet Pierced His Neck and He Fell at Brother's Feet After Gallant Charge.

(Associated Press Telegram)

Paris, Jan. 8.—Constantino Garibaldi, the second grandson of the Italian patriot to die in the fighting in France, was killed during an attack on a series of three German trenches. The story of how he met his death is told by his brother, Captain Ricciotti Garibaldi.

After mines had been laid and exploded, according to Captain Garibaldi's story, the regiment of Italian volunteers rushed forward shouting "Viva Trieste!" They captured the first two trenches without difficulty but the third trench was a more difficult proposition, being separated from the others by about 100 yards of open ground and commanded by a hill.

Notwithstanding this the Garibaldians stormed the trench but the Germans delivered a fierce counter attack and the position of the Italian volunteers became difficult. Colonel Peppino Garibaldi, the commander ordered the regiment to fall back and Constantino, who commanded the reserves in the second trench, went forward to aid his comrades. Almost immediately he was struck in the neck by a bullet which severed the carotid and he fell within a few yards of his brother Peppino.

NO PEACE AND GOOD WILL IN THIS CHRISTMAS

There were no peace and good will apparent at the Christmas celebration of a dozen foreigners at 49 Railroad street Thursday night. Neither did the fact that the celebration was two or three weeks late, seem to make any difference to those participating. Every feature of the celebration was carried out with a vim and vigor that might have been refreshing to any but Steve Slodish who was the unhappy victim of the strife and malice which prevailed instead of the conditions supposed to govern such assemblies.

Steve bore malice against some one who, he said, caused some of his friends trouble with the police recently. He went to the Railroad street trysting place, having the advantage of a handicap over those who opened the liquid refreshments which were to lend a happy air to the occasion.

Soon after Steve's appearance, the rough house broke loose and it continued until the appearance of Police Chief Sheridan and a squad of patrolmen. They rescued Steve much battered and covered with blood. They arrested eight or ten of the men who took part in the melee on charges of drunk and fighting.

In police court the men were fined $5 and costs and ordered committed to the county jail.

A woman arrested in East Newark was given a similar sentence on a drunk and disorderly charge. She caused a furor among the officers in police court by some of the frank remarks she made about them.

WHEAT PRICES SMASH RECORDS FOR 50 YEARS

ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM
Chicago, Jan. 8.—Smashing war-record prices for wheat began promptly today at the first going on 'change.' Opening quotations were 7-8 to 15-8 cents above last night, may wheat, the leading option, jumped to $1.39 3-4 as against $1.33 5-8, the tip-top for yesterday.

Reports of an ultimatum to Turkey by Italy had an explosive effect with buyers.

On a second wave of buying, May wheat went to $1.40 a bushel, the highest figure with few exceptions in fifty years, the parallel thus going back broadly to the American Civil war. Today's highest prices were supported by dispatches telling of excitement in the grain trade at Liverpool, and admitting that demand there was keen.

In the next hour another cent-a-bushel was added to previous values, so that May wheat here was quoted at $1.41 a bushel. Meanwhile, it was announced that bids from Great Britain at the American seaboard had risen 4 cents as compared with yesterday. It was also stated that a cargo of Durum wheat had been sold at the rate of $2.07 a bushel, delivered in Italy. Only 24 hours ago it was thought a marvel to get $1.99 1-2 for Durum, that was also bought subject to the cost of all charges to the Mediterranean.

Before the day was over commission house found it necessary to demand a big increase of margins from customers who sought to trade in wheat. The violent changes in the market resulted in a margin of 10 cents a bushel, being generally required. Recently 5 cents a bushel has been the rule. The doubling of margins put speculators under a handicap and soon reduced the volume of pit transactions just as proved to be the case when the market ran wild in the earlier periods of the war before the Germans wheeled suddenly in front of Paris.

FORTY-FOUR DIE OF CONTAGIOUS DISEASES IN 1914

Forty-four of the 364 deaths in Newark during the year 1914 were due to contagious diseases according to figures compiled from the health office records Friday. Of these, thirty were due to tuberculosis; ten to typhoid fever; three to diphtheria and one to whooping cough.

In the records of the health department are entries indicating that there were nearly 500 cases of contagious diseases of various kinds reported to the department during the year. The cases reported are as follows: Diphtheria, 61; scarlet fever, 57; typhoid fever, 78; measles, 61; small pox, 15; chicken pox, 203.

Whooping cough and tuberculosis are not subject to quarantine regulations and these diseases are not reported to the health department except where deaths occur.

The last descendant of Ernest Moritz Arndt, the German bard of the war of liberation and author of "Was ist des Deutschen Vaterland?" has gone into the field with his father, a retired major general.

In the last 25 years the population of Germany has increased from 48,000,000 to 66,000,000.

EX-GOV. CAMPBELL ON PROGRAM AT JACKSON BANQUET

A large number of tickets have been disposed of for the Jackson Day banquet which is to be held this evening at the Moose Hall in the Hibbert & Schaus block at 6 o'clock.

A turkey supper will be served and this will be followed with a program of oratory, Prof. O. C. Larason acting as toastmaster. Ex-Governor James E. Campbell will deliver the principal address, his subject being: "Andrew Jackson." Attorney Stewart Bolan of Columbus, Judge S. M. Douglass of Mansfield, Attorney Roderic Jones, and Postmaster J. H. Newton of this city will also respond to toasts. A reception will be held at the Hotel Warden for the speakers previous to the banquet hour.

PERMANENCE AND BRIGHT'S DISEASE

We have been asked to the permanence of the results in Bright's Disease under Fulton's Renal Compound. Many cases report permanence.

For instance in the case of R. M. Wood, Editor of the Wine and Spirit Review of San Francisco, Cal. It was twelve years ago that "the most noted analyst in San Francisco" established the genuineness of the case. The editor's physician told him that medicine would not avail and to go to Santa Barbara. He was put on Fulton's Renal Compound and not only made a recovery but the permanence of the results obtained may be judged from the fact that he is at this writing (February, 1914) of normal weight and promoting his publication with his usual energy.

The ability of Fulton's Diabetic Compound to oppose Hepatic degeneration and reduce sugar in many cases of Diabetes in people aged fifty and upwards is not a matter of opinion but a FACT IN PHYSICS, and we will mail formula that will show the percentage of sugar from week to week. As the sugar disappears improvement commonly follows, recoveries having been reported in many cases. Formula and literature mailed on request. John J. Fulton Co., San Francisco. F. D. Hall, druggist, is local agent. Ask for pamphlet.

The Riddle of the Ages. Gold is more highly prized than any other metal because it has the great quality of being more uniformly useless. Other metals fluctuate more or less in the degree of their usefulness. Gold continues on its even way.

Bricks made from clay are for all practical purposes more useful than gold. They can be made into houses, and nobody would attempt to break them off and carry them away. If bricks of gold were, however, employed for this purpose no house would be safe. The owner of the house, if he were a sound sleeper, would awake in the morning to find the walls gone, himself the center of an irreproachable system of ventilation.

Gold is like some stable people. It has no special accomplishments. Thus it never bores any one by its presence. You never hear any individual or any nation exclaim: "I'm tired of having so much gold around."

Gold is the greatest financial paradox in the world. Useless to sustain life, its very stability makes it lend itself to the most widely varying purposes. Without it war would be a failure, and so to peace.—Life.

American women yearly buy more than $10,000,000 worth of millinery supplies from France.

HARRY LAUDER

World-famous Scotch Comedian, says:

"Tuxedo, for mildness, purity and fragrance, THE tobacco for me. With my pipe filled with good old TUXEDO, all my troubles go up in smoke. In all my world-wide travels I've yet to find its equal as a slow-burning, cool-tasting, sweet-flavored tobacco. TUXEDO satisfies me completely."

Harry Lauder

Tuxedo Keeps the World in Good Humor

Here is the man whose life work is to make millions of people happy. In pursuing his call, he travels the wide world over. He is a great lover of his pipe, and in all sorts of corners of the earth he has tried all sorts of tobaccos.

What is his unqualified statement in regard to Tuxedo? Read it again: "I've yet to find its equal." This is the frank and candid opinion of thousands and thousands of experienced, judicious smokers. Tuxedo is absolutely the best all-around tobacco that modern tobacco science can make.

Tuxedo
The Perfect Tobacco for Pipe and Cigarette

Uncorking a tin of Tuxedo is like lifting the lid on concentrated sunshine. And then, when you fire up! Well! The first puff's a revelation, the second's a revolution, the third just gets you happy-like! Then you're off—just as sure as you'll see the green grass and hear the birds sing next Spring.

The exclusive "Tuxedo Process" brings out the unsurpassed mildness, delicate fragrance and mellow flavor of the Burley leaf in a way that has never been successfully imitated. At the same time it refines the tobacco until every trace of harshness and "bite" disappears.

Costly New Year's celebrations are commended, as they put money into circulation, but paying out the same amount of money in fuel for the poor is considered to be helping on improvidence.

Objectionable Advertising.

Some very interesting ideas have been brought out at the annual conference of teachers of journalism held the past week at Columbia University. The statement was made by R. H. Waldo, advertising manager of the New York Tribune, that 88 per cent of advertising was legitimate, and 12 per cent illegitimate. Mr. Waldo emphasized the idea that if the newspapers would unite and throw out all this questionable 12 per cent of advertising, they would far more than make up the loss by attracting patronage from business men who now do not advertise.

This is an idea which the great majority of the newspaper profession would welcome. The conscientious publisher is hampered by unscrupulous competitors. They receive advertising that ought not to be printed. This makes it difficult for all others in the same field who are trying to get out profitable papers on a higher standard.

The greatest offenders in objectionable advertising are a large class of metropolitan dailies, who give liberal space to Get-Rich-Quick schemes, and the most objectionable forms of medical advertising. The publicity given to fake investments involves the most serious loss to the public.

1815—General Andrew Jackson won his extraordinary victory at New Orleans. Over 2,000 Britons fell. Jackson's loss was eight killed and thirteen wounded. Jackson's triumph was enhanced by the fact that it was won against enormous odds. He was to New Orleans without troops and without followers, but soon aroused the people to the highest point of enthusiasm, and soldiers north flocked to his standard. The British forces under Pakenham included seasoned veterans from the Spanish peninsula. They looked upon Jackson's soldiers as despicable militia.

EVEN CROSS, SICK CHILDREN LOVE SYRUP OF FIGS

Don't scold your fretful, peevish child. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with sour waste.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomachache, indigestion, diarrhoea, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all of the foul waste, the sour bile and fermenting food passes out of the bowels and you have a well and playful child again. Children love this harmless "fruit laxative," and mothers can rest easy after giving it, because it never fails to make their little "insides" clean and sweet.

Keep it handy, Mother! A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Remember there are counterfeits sold here, so surely look and see that yours is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.

SNOW.

The boy looks out and sees the snow that's fallen by the ton; his eyes with rapture are aglow, for snow means heaps of fun. Upon his little sled he'll coast as fast as lightning goes, while dodging pillars pause to roast all boys and sleds and snows. And when he wears of his sled, snowballing still remains; he'll swat some old man on the head, dislocate his brains. The good old snow brings that delight which every small boy seeks; he hails with glee that "mantle white" of which the poet speaks. The old man looks out at the snow that covers street and plain, and heaves a mighty sigh of woe, and has a mental pain. "Dodgast the snow," he cries; "black, oddish and eke gee whizz! I'm due to have a fresh attack of jumping rheumatiz! Dire evils, in this time of sleet, my system will infest, and I'll have chilblains in my feet, pneumonia in my chest. I'll have to drink a pint of dope, my breast with grease anoint, and still the beastly aches will grope along my every joint. Alas, the days of long ago, which truly were sublime! When I was young there was no snow, we had no wintertime!"

FALLING HAIR OR ITCHING SCAP

Surely Cease When You Use Parisian Sage—Makes Your Hair Soft and Fluffy.

Now that Parisian Sage—a scientific preparation that supplies every hair and scalp need—can be had at any drug counter or from T. J. Evans, druggist, it is certainly needless to have thin, brittle, matted, stung or faded hair. No matter how unsightly your hair, how badly it is falling, or how much dandruff, Parisian Sage is all that is needed. Every trace of dandruff is removed with one application, the hair roots are nourished and stimulated to grow new hair, itching scalp and falling hair cease—your hair becomes soft, fluffy, abundant and radiant with life and beauty.

Parisian Sage is surely one of the most invigorating and refreshing hair tonics known. It is easily used at home—not expensive, and even one application proves its goodness.

Colds Relieved Without Dosing

If you have tried external medicines and find that your head is still stopped up, throat inflamed and chest sore, we want you to try the external treatment—Vick's "Vapo-Rub." Croup and "Pneumonia Salve." Apply hot wet towels over throat and chest to open the pores, then rub Vick's in well and cover with a warm flannel cloth. The body warmth releases healing vapors that are inhaled all night long, and, in addition, Vick's is absorbed through the pores, taking out the soreness. Sold by all dealers on thirty days' trial—try a 25c jar to-night.

[Associated Press Telegram]

5-8 at one time yesterday. Increasing danger that Italy would open hostilities gave reason for a general rush of buying that swept quotations upward from the start. The opening which was 7-8 to 1 5-8 higher was followed by a reaction of as much as a cent, but then the market rose higher than at first.
Corn advanced with wheat. Offerings were light, and the Liverpool quotations had a decided bullish aspect. After opening 1-8 1/2 to 3-8 a half up, there was a slight setback which quickly gave way to a material fresh gain.
Shorts in oats took heed of the rise and other grain. Commission house demand though was only scattering.
Packers unloaded provisions. The result appeared to be more than an offset from the influence of the bulge in cereals.

IN FIVE MINUTES NO SICK STOMACH, INDIGESTION, GAS

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, refusing to digest, or you belch gas and eructate sour, indigestion, heartburn, fullness, nausea, bad taste in mouth and stomach headache, you can surely get relief in five minutes.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula, plainly printed on these fifty-cent cases of Pape's Diapensin, then you will understand why dyspeptic troubles of all kinds must go, and why it relieves, sour, out-of-order stomachs or indigestion in five minutes. "Pape's Diapensin" is harmless; tastes like candy, though each case will digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you eat; besides, it makes you go to the table with healthy appetite; but what will please you most, is that you will feel that your stomach and intestines are clean and fresh, and you will not need to resort to laxatives or liver pills for biliousness or constipation.

This city will have many "Pape's Diapensin" cranks, as some people will call them, but you will be enthusiastic about this splendid stomach preparation, too, if you ever take it for indigestion, gases, heartburn, sourness, dyspepsia, or any stomach misery.

Get some now, this minute, and rid yourself of stomach misery and indigestion in five minutes.

LIBRARY BENEFIT AT HIGH SCHOOL JANUARY 19th

"Change", a remarkable play by J. O. Francis which was produced by the Welsh Players last season in New York city and at the Fine Arts Theatre, Chicago, will be dramatically interpreted in Newark by Mrs. Labadie on Jan. 19 at the High School auditorium, under the auspices of the Brightening Circle of the King's Daughters for the Library Benefit.

The story deals with Welsh home life and rarely has the life of the working classes been woven into such fine nervous dramatic English.

The name indicates the motive of the play which vividly portrays the conflict between the old and new generations; the unrest and the breaking away of the younger from the religious traditions and social conventions observed by the old.

It is a struggle between the present and the past for supremacy in the future. This is clearly the motive of the play. The clash between class and class leading to a strike scene one of the most dramatic of the many tense situations in the play, is secondary to the main idea of the clash between the ideas of the old and the new generations.

DON'T MAKE BRIDE BLUSH, SAYS SENATOR; WOULD AMEND BILL

Columbus, Jan. 8.—Part of the embarrassment to brides-elect is to be done away with, if a bill to be introduced by Senator M. B. Archer of Noble county, becomes a law.

Senator Archer has announced he will introduce an amendment to the marriage license law, which will make it necessary for only the prospective bridegroom to go to the license clerk in the probate court for a marriage license. This amendment will permit the man to take the affidavit of the bride with him.

Senator Archer says that in many towns such a law will reduce the embarrassment of the young women, who don't like to be pointed out as brides-to-be, when they are on their way to the courthouse.

It will be interesting to see who Coach Livingston will pick to fill the places of Black and Prouty, who were graduated last year.

Sore Throat Don'ts

When the children have sore throat don't blister their necks with lamp oil. Don't torture them with a foul smelling piece of fat meat, wrapped about the neck. Don't imagine there is medical virtue in a cold sock or piece of red flannel. Don't believe in antiquated superstitions. A sore throat is a serious matter and it is to be healed by such make-believe remedies. The use of such methods is simply putting the patient to needless torture. Use a little sore throat wisdom and give them TONSILINE and the throat will heal quickly. 25 and 50 cents at all druggists. The Tonsiline Co. Canton, Ohio

Company B, Old Guard, has completed final arrangements to take part in the inauguration of Governor-elect Frank B. Willis at Columbus next Monday. The company has arranged for a special interurban car which will leave the station here Monday morning at 8:15 o'clock and while it was sojourned primarily for the old soldiers, they urge all Newark people who expect to attend the inaugural ceremonies to join their party for the trip. The car will leave Columbus for the return trip at 5 p. m. By going on this car with the veterans, Newark people will aid them in bearing the expense of the special.

Captain Bausch expects to have nearly the full membership of the company in line for the parade. They will be in full uniform and will do honor to the new governor in behalf of their home town.

OPPOSITES IN LIFE OF CHRIST, BASIS DR. KOEHNE'S TALK

Continuing his series of lectures on the "Personality of Christ" Dr. J. B. Koehne, at the First Presbyterian church Thursday night took for his theme "Opposites in the Life of Christ." Dr. Koehne is delivering a series of lectures under the auspices of the men's Bible classes of the First and Second Presbyterian churches. There are ten more lectures in the series. Announcements made Thursday night outlined the plans for the series. There will be no lecture Saturday night. The lecture at the First church Sunday morning on "The Resurrection" will be repeated a week from Sunday at the Second church so it will not be necessary for the membership of either congregation to miss the morning service in their own church.

To those who heard the latest of these lectures, it was evident that Dr. Koehne is a specialist in his line. Other professions have their specialists and Dr. Koehne as a theologian has, apparently made a special study of the life of the Saviour. He had every phase of Christ's life on earth at his tongue's end and the speaker's analysis of Christ's words showed the result of exhaustive study.

Dr. Koehne is different from other preachers. He impressed his audience more as an instructor, rather than a preacher as that title has come to mean in these days. Throughout the entire address, it appeared that the speaker had such a vast amount to say, that he found difficulty in choosing that which he regarded more important than something else. And for more than an hour, he held the undivided attention of practically every one in the church and it was well filled.

In opening his lecture Thursday night, Dr. Koehne again outlined the general idea of the subject. He declared that Christ was one of three things. That he either was a Jewish rabbi, a moral genius or God's incarnate.

He recited dozens of incidents in Christ's life showing that it was made up largely of opposites. He declared that Christ never offered any apology for the teachings of the first few years of His life. He never revised His teachings on the plea that He had a better knowledge of the world and men in His last years on earth. And He never authorized any one or left any instructions to modify His teachings, though some of the teachers of the new theology might wish He had.

"He never ordained any priests," said Dr. Koehne. "He made the common people His ministers."

Dr. Koehne said that in Christ's teachings could be found answers to the three greatest problems of the human mind as set down by Kant: "What may I hope for?" but which that great thinker failed to answer.

The speaker said that Christ taught that "I am the way to live God," which tells man what he ought to do. "Heaven," he said, "is the place where men dwell who do what they ought. Hell is the dwelling place of those who do what they ought not."

Christ's answer to the second question was "know God and his relationship to you and your relationship to Him. And the answer to the last question was to hope for a life beyond the grave.

Dr. Koehne found no defense for the warring nations of Europe. He declared that the events there were merely a repetition of historical events in past centuries, in which the wrath of God was sent to the nations who defied His laws. He said that it was America's turn next, unless its people acquired more of the spirit of Christ.

SANDLES WOULD IMPROVE FARMS AND NAME THEM

"Put a new dress on Ohio." That is the latest slogan of A. P. Sandles, president of the agricultural commission.

He wants farmers to paint, to plant lawns and flowers, and when they've got the homestead fixed up, to give it a name. It will be an incentive to keep the farm in the family generation after generation.

He would have lawns planted along roadsides. He would have unsightly fences removed.

Sandles also wants farmers to get letterheads printed. "And add your wife's name," he advises farmers. Sandles believes the old-fashioned spelling school should be revived.

OLD-TIME COLD CURE—DRINK TEA!

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once.

WOMAN WAS COUNTY CHARGE, BUT SAVED $171 BURIAL FUND

In a box of old papers in the home of Mrs. John Walling, aged 59 years, who died at Shawnee last week, County Commissioner C. K. Ricketts found a roll of bills amounting to $171, which the aged woman evidently had saved for the purpose of her burial, says the New Lexington Herald. She had been supported by the county for eleven years, although permitted to remain in her little home, where neighbors cared for her. Commissioner Ricketts was appointed administrator of her estate, which consists of the money found and a small home. After paying funeral expenses the balance of the estate will fall to the county poor fund.

SPECIAL MEETING AT FIFTH STREET BAPTIST

The Fifth Street Baptist church will begin special evangelistic meetings, Sunday, January 17, under the leadership of Dr. Franklin W. Swift of Rochelle, Ill. Dr. Swift was pastor at Linden avenue, Dayton, for seven years, and a man well-known in Ohio. He is a most stirring preacher, and a very successful revivalist. The meetings will be held on the first floor of the church, a specially constructed platform for speaker and singers being built. A large chorus choir of about forty-five or fifty voices will furnish the music, under the guidance of the pastor. Of course, everybody will be welcome to all meetings, day and night.

GIGANTIC

TASK OF ADMINISTRATION OF THE AFFAIRS OF FRANCE'S ARMY HARDLY REALIZED

Work Distributed Among Trained Officials of Great Corporations In Varied Activities.

Paris, Dec. 22.—(Associated Press Correspondence).—What might be called the civilian administration of the French army is probably the most gigantic business proposition the world has ever seen. It is as though all the railways of the United States with their 1,668,804 employees, all the steel and iron industries with their 200,762 employees and all the quarries, coal mines and metal mines of the United States with their 1,052,281 workers were all under the direction of one officer and besides these, over a million more employed in a half hundred other of the great corporations in America.

The French war office, through its civilian administration must assemble, transport and distribute food for nearly 4,000,000 men. It must supply the men with transportation from one part of the fighting line to another, from the front to the interior and from the interior to the front in their periods of recuperation. It must provide clothing, medical attendance, dentists and every variety of service necessary to keep a man in health.

Besides all this, it must look out for the families of the men at the front, supplying their wives with the equivalent of 25 cents a day and in case of children with the equivalent of ten cents a day.

The smooth working of these immense business transactions is only possible because the work is distributed among the trained railway managers, steamship directors, great corporation officials and business men, who although they are wearing uniforms have been trained and prepared by civil life for this sort of work in war time. Some thousands of the most competent business men of France have been organized into this supply side of the war.

Many political leaders, senators, deputies, ex-presidents of the chamber and men prominent in scientific and intellectual life have been called upon to help in this gigantic work.

AUTOMATIC GREAT, SAYS NEW YORKER

Comes "Out West" to Find Girl-less System in Richmond Better Than Gotham's Best.

(Richmond, Ind., Exchange.) There was a vague suggestion of superiority in his air, a slight hint of tolerant cynicism in his attitude as he walked up to the desk in the Westcott Hotel, Richmond, Ind. registered, and asked for the customary room and bath.

"No. Just send my grip up," he replied to the clerk's query as to whether he wished to go to his room. "Have you a 'phone?" he asked as he dug in his pocket for a memorandum.

The clerk smiling inwardly at the easterner's "airs," waved toward the instrument at the end of the counter, and then pretended to return to his own work. In reality he watched for developments.

Pencil the desired number on a slip of paper, the traveler placed the receiver to his ear and waited. After a well-bred annoyance spread over his face as the seconds passed. Not expecting metropolitan service in the wilds of Indiana, he delayed longer than usual, then gently depressed the receiver hook two or three times. There was no response. Turning to the clerk, he remarked:

"I fear your 'phone is out of order."

"No, I guess not," said the clerk. "That is an automatic telephone, perhaps you are not familiar with it."

"Yes, yes. I understand, but central doesn't answer."

The clerk, wise from experience, moved toward the instrument.

"Never mind central," he advised. "Just operate the dial."

The stranger seemed a bit bewildered.

"Here, let me get your number," the hotel man offered.

Four turns to the dial, a second or so delay, and a woman's voice answered.

The clerk handed the receiver to the guest.

"Hello, central; give me 6-14-9."

"This is 6-14-9, Mrs. — speaking, come back the answer."

"Er—th, I see." Then recovering from his confusion, the stranger briefly stated his message, hung up the receiver and turned to the clerk.

"Will you please explain that thing?" he began. "In from New York, and I was under the impression that we had about all the good things there are but this has me guessing."

"What? I have never heard of the Automatic Telephone? Why, we use them exclusively out this way. Couldn't get us to use the old-fashioned kind again for love or money."

After hearing a brief explanation of the system the New Yorker called up Mr. W. M. Bailey, manager of the Richmond Home Telephone company, and he made this call himself—asked and obtained permission to inspect the Central and started off.

That evening when he returned to the hotel he stopped to speak a word with the clerk.

"We customers are slow after all," he began. "I have never been west before, and I thought of this country as it was described in school books forty years ago. But I had to come out here, eight or nine hundred miles from the only town on earth, to learn what real telephone service is."

"I am not a telephone man, but I am interested in machinery and have seen one or two exchanges in New York. But today I saw the most marvelous mechanism in the world. It is positively uncanny, what these machines and wires, and I don't know what all can and do. I thought a manual switchboard was wonderful, and it is wonderful, only it is built wrong. There is no girl living who can or will do what these machines do all the time. It is marvelous."

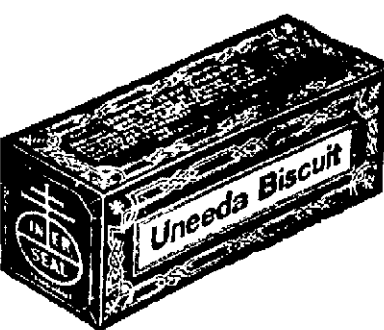

"I'm going back east and tell some of my friends who think New York is the only place on earth that if they want real telephone service to go out to Richmond, Ind."

EXPANSION

OF ALASKA'S ROADS AND TRAILS DEPENDS UPON LARGER APPROPRIATIONS.

No Great Development of Alaskan Resources Will Follow the Building of Railroads.

(Associated Press Telegram.) Washington, Jan. 8.—Further development of Alaska's system of roads and trails cannot be expected unless congress increases the allotment of funds declares Col. Wm. P. Richardson, president of the Alaska board of road commissioners in his annual report today to the war department. The funds allotted, he says, are now entirely consumed in repairing and maintaining the existing roads.

This, according to Col. Richardson, will become practically a fixed condition from year to year, with the amount of mileage now required to be maintained, and although additional new projects, all more or less meritorious, are being presented to the board every year, with petitions for aid, it is impossible for the board to respond, except to a very limited degree.

Col. Richardson has submitted a plan for the extension of the roads covering a period of three years with an estimate of $750,000 for the first year and it is earnestly hoped that this plan may receive favorable action before the opening of next season's work.

While again disclaiming any intention of antagonizing the projected railway construction in Alaska, Col. Richardson repeats the former statement of the board that no rapid or general development in Alaska will follow the construction of trunk lines of railroads to the interior unless preceded or accompanied by the construction of many wagon roads and trails as feeders.

Regarding the bill now before congress to create a general development board for Alaska, to open its resources, Col. Richardson declares that it is no egotism to say that no other agency of the government is more competent or better equipped for such tasks in the army, and he points to the extensive public works accomplished in Alaska in connection with the cable and telegraph service and the roads and trails run through the wilderness by the army to support his statement.

OPEN SHOP

POLICY OF MINE OPERATORS WILL NOT BE AFFECTED BY FEDERAL INVESTIGATION.

They Seem Certain That Many of the Strikers Will Go Back to Work at Terms Offered.

(Associated Press Telegram.) Cleveland, Jan. 8.—That the investigation being conducted by Hywel Davies and Daniel J. Keefe, federal conciliators, into the eastern Ohio coal strike, will not deter the operators from carrying out their announced intention of attempting to operate their mines on the "open-shop" basis, was the statement of operators here today.

"We had formulated our plans before Secretary of Labor Wilson appointed the conciliators," said Walter R. Woodford, president of the operators' association, today. "and I see no reason why we should alter our plans."

Certain that many of the strikers will accept their offer and return to work, the operators believe that even a partial operation of their miners will tend to strengthen their contention that the best of feeling obtains between the mine-owners and strikers. On the other hand the miners' union officials assert their position—that the miners do not want to work under terms offered by the operators—will be proven by miners refusing to respond to the operators' call to resume work. Both sides, consequently, regard the outcome of the operators' resumption plans as of particular significance in view of the federal investigation of the strike.

Mr. Woodford, who conferred with Mr. Woodford yesterday, was to have another short conference with him this afternoon before he left for his home in Kentucky to spend Sunday. Mr. Davies expects to meet Mr. Keefe probably in Cincinnati on Monday and they then will enter the strike zone in eastern Ohio and take up their investigation.

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes—Most Women Can Have

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, you will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off to waste and poisonous matter that one's system collects. If you have a pale face, yellow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women, as well as men, take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets now and then just to keep in the pink of condition. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel—10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

German Army Officer Pays Tribute To the Valor of English Soldiers; Good Fighters and Are Resourceful

(Correspondence Associated Press)

Berlin, Dec. 15.—English soldiers are good fighters and resourceful, an editor of the Zeitung am Mittag, who is serving as first lieutenant in the German army, writes his paper in an account of the engagement around Ypres, in November.

"Full of fight and confident of an easy victory," he says, "our young regiments started to march against the enemy. We were quite certain that Providence had endowed the English with long legs to facilitate their running away the faster. Thus we advanced by long and short marches through Flanders, the great cemetery. We were delighted with the beautiful Flemish landscape and with the inhabitants, whose language we soon managed to understand, even as they speedily came to understand ours.

"We thought of the English soldiers as the comic papers are wont to portray them. There were a few who warned us against possible underestimation of the enemy, but their warnings were quoted by our pointing out that these were mercenary troops, hired at a few pence a day, bare of patriotism and incapable of sacrifice.

"Sooner than we thought we were upon the enemy. First we came upon a dead Englishman, then two wounded English officers, then an English prisoner. The prisoner naturally was of great interest to our soldiers. 'Wonder if the mercenary can shoot?' we asked ourselves. An hour later some of his comrades gave us an answer to that question. They gave us a clear, practical demonstration—such a clear demonstration that our battalion was reduced to halt its original size in a few encounters. We suddenly realized that the English mercenaries could not be routed with mere hurrahs, and that these smooth-faced gentlemen used the long legs not always for running away, but sometimes for desperate and dangerous charges.

"The English infantry which opposed us at Ypres must be considered among their best troops. They defended their positions with energy and skill and when driven back tried again and again to recover the lost ground. In these endeavors they were supported efficiently by the fire of their field artillery. They had also transported heavy naval guns to Ypres, and the English shells and shrapnel caused enormous damage among our troops.

"As the surrounding of the English forces by our troops made itself more and more felt, the English infantry tried again and again to break through without success. In one of these attacks five hundred English soldiers and twenty officers fell into our hands.

"The English trenches were mostly so arranged as to be quite invisible to the naked eye. When we had got into the first trenches we were astonished at their systematic construction as regards depth, side protection against splintering of shells, breastwork and flooring. The trenches were nearly all excellently arranged for a long stand. We were particularly astonished at the iron and steel work built into the breastworks. The floors were designed with an eye to maximum comfort. Our men captured there a great store of excellent preserves, corn, beet and ham, and many also secured one of the shaving outfits which every English soldier carries.

"When we had taken a position it frequently occurred that we found a disproportionate number of dead to the very few living defenders. We soon discovered that a large number of the 'dead' were shamming and these were easily tickled into life with a bayonet.

"In some cases the English had dug trenches but had not occupied them, and to deceive us had put large round turnips and similar objects along the breastworks."

Latest Photo of the Kaiser Showing How His Hair is Turning Gray Since the War Began

This is the latest photo of Kaiser Wilhelm. He is wearing his new gray field uniform, and it is the first picture taken of him since he adopted it. But the striking thing about the photo is its confirmation of statements in several cable dispatches from correspondents who recently seen him that his hair has turned gray. Photographs of the Kaiser taken before the war show him with iron gray hair containing more black than gray. The change in his appearance is therefore very noticeable.

WONDERFUL

CELEBRATION OF MRS. LORINDA WARTENBEE'S ONE HUNDREDTH BIRTHDAY.

Greetings and Flowers Showed Reverence in Which She Is Held—Given $100 in Gold.

(Special to The Advocate)

Granville, Jan. 8.—In a quiet, but most delightful manner, the one hundredth birthday anniversary of Mrs. Lorinda Ballou Wartenbee was celebrated yesterday, Thursday, January 7, 1915, the whole town in one way or another, expressing its love and esteem for its gentle centenarian.

At the home in Broadway, friends of the family began early to send or to carry their tokens of congratulations. Beautiful baskets of fruit, boxes and vases of rare flowers, roses, violets, valley lilies, blooming plants, presents of various kinds; letters, cards and telegrams of congratulation literally rained down, from all over the country.

About a dozen or more relatives from out of town assembled around the beautifully decorated dinner table, and the birthday cake with its hundred tiny candles, which it required four people to light, was a thing of wondrous beauty, and significance. Covers were laid for: Mrs. James A. Patton, Chicago; Mrs. Thomas Lenet, Miss Sarah Ballou, Columbus; Mr. George Spellman, Cleveland; Miss Saue Keenan, Mr. Charles Ballou, Newark; Rev. and Mrs. W. D. Keis, Emma, Harriet and Norman Keis, King's Mills, O.; Miss Belle Spooner, Cumberland, O.; Miss Nellie Ballou, Shepardsburg college; Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Spearman, Granville, and the hostesses, Miss Emma Wartenbee and Mrs. Edith Stone. During all the coming and going, the lovely recipient of all these attentions was comfortably ensconced in the parlor where old-time friends were taken for brief greetings.

At 2 o'clock a delegation, composed of Mrs. J. S. Jones, Mrs. C. J. Rose, Mrs. W. H. Johnson, Mrs. R. S. Colwell, Mrs. Burton Case, Miss Howland, Prof. B. Spencer and Mr. Burton Case, called and as briefly as possible, presented the gift of the townspeople, one hundred dollars in gold, enclosed in a satin-lined velvet box. An exquisite little poem from the pen of Prof. W. H. Johnson was read as the lid of the box was raised, disclosing the shining gold pieces, corresponding to her "five score years."

"The gold we give, from earth was mined, But you a purer gold have given—One hundred golden years, each coined By Him who holds the mints of Heaven." As she fingered the yellow coins she murmured softly: "How beautiful! how beautiful! But why should they do all this for me?" "Because," replied her daughter, "the whole town loves you, Mama."

An extra copy of the Granville Times, which contained beautiful tributes from the pens of finished writers such as Dr. C. J. Baldwin, Dr. F. W. Shepardsburg of Chicago and Mr. O. C. Hooper of Columbus, was printed on white satin and presented to Mrs. Wartenbee. The Times contained the list of contributors to the birthday fund, which with more time and better weather might have included every family in town. So cheerfully was the plan carried out, that contributions were brought to Mr. C. J. Rose's office or to Burton Case's home by those who were eager to have it succeed, and two extra gold pieces of

At a meeting of Center Star Lodge, F. and A. M., No. 11, Granville's oldest institution, last Thursday evening a committee consisting of Messrs L. A. Austin, T. G. Baker and C. L. Williams was appointed to recognize in some appropriate way the one hundredth birthday of Mrs. Lorinda

Wartenbee. On Thursday afternoon, January 7, this committee waited on Mrs. Wartenbee and on behalf of the lodge presented her with a handsome bouquet accompanied by the following letter:

"Granville, Jan. 7, 1915

"Dear Mrs. Wartenbee

"As the representatives of Center Star Lodge, F. and A. M., No. 11, we desire to congratulate you upon the fact that you are one hundred years old today. In your long and useful life you have finely illustrated the virtues of Christian womanhood and the graces of Christian motherhood. You have thus enriched the Spiritual life of the entire community in which you have dwelt.

"Please accept from our lodge, through us, these fragrant flowers, whose beauty and fragrance may serve in some small measure to symbolize the beauty and fragrance of the life you have lived so long in Granville.

"Yours with best wishes, (Signed) L. A. Austin, T. G. Baker, C. L. Williams"

Police Find Stolen Auto in Hoover St.

Patrolman George Abbott Friday morning located the stolen Ford automobile which was taken by thieves Tuesday night while it was left standing in South Park Place by the owner, A. V. Leak, city salesman for the Newark Provision. The officer received a tip that a mud-bespattered machine had been left standing in Hoover street and that the owner had gone for gasoline.

He hurried to the point where the machine was standing and identifying the machine, sent a call to headquarters for help in rounding up the driver.

The patrol wagon with Chief Sheridan, Wagonman Hager and Officer Hurlbaugh responded to the call but the driver apparently got wind of the hunt for he failed to return for the machine. It was turned over to Mr. Leak.

It is believed that the thief who took the machine, first stole the switch plug on the automobile of Mr. Leak, while this machine was standing in Fourth street near Church.

The police have no clue to the identity of the man who was driving the machine Friday.

India in 1913 sent to the United States 163 students, and China sent 594.

Stale Bread or Fresh Bread.

Most persons don't like stale bread so well as fresh, though many consider it more digestible. As a matter of fact fresh bread is just as digestible as stale, if it be chewed as much, but its very softness is a temptation to chew it too little; hence it is swallowed without the admixture of enough saliva to digest its starch. Stale bread, on the other hand, is difficult to swallow unless thoroughly chewed. The difference between fresh and stale bread is merely a matter of water in bread as it comes from the oven the crust is dry and crisp and the crumb is moist and soft, because all the water is in the crumb. As hours or days pass the crust absorbs water from the crumb and becomes soft, while the crumb becomes dry. A loaf can be made fresh again by slightly moistening it and placing it for a few minutes in a hot oven. The heat drives the water from the crust back into the crumb.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

One Phase of Tolstoy.

"In the 'Reminiscences of Tolstoy' by his son, Count Ilya Tolstoy, are shown many phases of the great man's nature, this one among them:

"All exhibitions of tenderness were entirely foreign to him. I say 'tenderness' in contradistinction to 'feeling.' Feeling he had, and in a very high degree. During all his lifetime I never received any mark of tenderness from him whatever. Nearness and dearness with him were never accompanied by any outward manifestations. It would never have come into my head, for instance, to walk up to my father and kiss him or to stroke his hand. I was partly prevented also by the fact that I always looked up to him with such awe, and his spiritual power, his greatness, prevented me from seeing in him the mere man, the man who was so pitiable and weary at times, the feeble old man who so much needed warmth and rest."

Hobart Pasha.

The Turkish navy of the past owed almost its existence to an English sailor, Hobart Pasha, a bold buccaner of the Elizabethan period, who by some strange perversion of fate was born into the Victorian age. He retired from the English navy in 1833, and during the American war he became a blockade runner with hairbreadth escapes unnumbered. After the war he entered the Turkish service, suppressed the Cretan rebellion by intercepting the supplies from Greece and then reorganized the Turkish fleet so well that the sultan appointed him marshal of the empire. Hobart Pasha also enjoyed the unique distinction of being twice struck off the British navy list for breach of the foreign enlistment act and twice reinstated. And he died in 1888 with the rank of a British vice admiral.—London Globe.

Prudence and Shaving.

The classic case of a king who knew better than to let anybody else shave him is that of Dionysius the Elder, tyrant of Syracuse, who appears to have been unable to shave himself, for he is said to have resorted to the uncomfortable device of singeing off his beard with hot walnut shells. We may suspect that Napoleon's was another case of the kind. Rogers asked Talleyrand whether Napoleon shaved himself. "Yes," replied Talleyrand; "one born to be a king has some one to shave him, but they who acquire kingdoms shave themselves." That way of putting it pleasantly emphasizes the practical superiority of the parvenu to the helpless spoiled child of heredity, but prudence probably entered into the matter also, if Talleyrand's statement was correct.—London Standard.

Noyon Cathedral.

Noyon, in France, held peculiar attractions for Robert Louis Stevenson because of its cathedral, where he heard the "Miserere" sung one summer afternoon. Of the place itself he wrote: "It was but a stack of brown roofs at the best, where, I believe, people live very reputedly in a quiet way, but the shadow of the church falls upon it when the sun is low, and the five bells are heard in all quarters telling that the organ has begun. If ever I join the church of Rome I shall stipulate to be bishop of Noyon on the Oise."—Pall Mall Gazette.

An Idle Curiosity.

Teacher—The sentence in the lesson is, "He went there out of idle curiosity." How would you define "idle curiosity?" Give me an instance, if one occurs to you.

Bad Boy—Well, I think a mummy is about as idle a curiosity as any I know of, ma'am.—Exchange.

Earthquakes.

An eminent authority on earthquakes believes that any great displacement of the crust of the earth makes the earth to rotate unerringly, or "wobble," and that that unevenness of motion has to be neutralized by displacements in other regions.—Exchange.

Nought.

"I tell you what, sir," said a Yankee of his opponent, "that man don't amount to a sum in arithmetic. Add him up, and there is nothing to carry."—Christian Register.

An Exception.

"How did he get his start?"
"His uncle left him some money."
"Humph! That's usually a young man's finish."—Detroit Free Press.

Too Quick.

While reporting a term of court in an outlying county a village merchant was prosecuted for "arson." It developed that the business men of the town had retained a "special prosecutor" to assist in the case. The attorney for the defendant invariably asked each witness if he had ever contributed anything toward the support of the "special prosecutor." One old man was very zealous in his efforts to convict the defendant. The attorney started to ask him the regular "contribution" question, but the witness interrupted him and gave his answer in the middle of the question, with the following result:

"Have you ever contributed anything toward the support?"

"No, sir; I never did—not a cent!"

"Of your family?"

The witness was excused amid the laughter of the court, jury and audience. He left the room mad as a hornet and was heard to mutter, "I ain't got no family."—West Publishing Company.

Silhouette and Painting.

The art of painting begins inevitably with drawing—with expression by means of the point; the result—line. This every teacher and academy realizes and has to realize. More, every great school of painting has evolved from it. But this use of the point or drawing soon reaches its limitations, and the brush demands mass, or perhaps it is more correct to say that mass demands the brush. The floating of masses on to canvas or paper, with its edges holding the outline of the form, is silhouette. Silhouette, in other words, is the basis of all mass impressions. Without a sense of silhouette we can utter no large and sublime moods. Yet, strange to say, the small part given to silhouette in the teaching of the art of painting in academies—indeed, more often the utter lack of it—has always struck me as extraordinary.—Haldane Macfall in T. P.'s Weekly, London.

Bride's First Mistake.

An amusing incident recently took place in a hotel at a popular seaside resort. At one of the tables in the writing room sat the young and charming Mrs. Newlywed busily engaged on a letter. Suddenly she stopped, laid down her pen and gazed out of the window; then she started at the ceiling, evidently deep in thought. Finally she made a number of jottings on the blotter beside her, examined them carefully and at length resumed her letter. A base and uncalled for curiosity prompted the correspondent to take his seat at that table not long afterward. On the blotter, each word followed by a formidable question mark, was the mysterious inscription: "Happyness? Happiness? And, alas, Mrs. N. had made the first mistake in her married life. The first two words had a determined line drawn through them.—Glasgow News.

Made the Hot Air Work.

Until the aid of science was invoked the work of unloading cars loaded with coal in winter in Philadelphia proved to be a heavy task, for it often happened that whole trainloads arrived with the coal frozen into a solid mass. Science built a concrete and nearly airtight house at Greenwich Point, into which twenty-one loaded coal cars may be backed at one time, like so many pies in an oven. Here in a temperature of 150 or more degrees the solid contents of a car are thawed loose from the sides. In forty minutes or so, the cooking process being complete, the cars are taken from the oven and hoisted over the ship, when the coal runs out easily. That hot air can do to twenty-one cars in forty minutes what it took 100 men a day to accomplish.

Good Bait.

Fish stories are supposed to be unique as stretchers of the imagination, but none beats the story told by a recent British visitor at Washington. It seems that one of his acquaintances, a traveler of some note, had told a small farm to an Irishman, and the latter was complaining because there were no birds in his garden.

"Set some traps," suggested the traveler, "and they will come."

"Sure an' will they come thin?"

"Yes, I was once in Africa, and there wasn't a woman, I had been told, within 200 miles. I wanted some one to cook, so I hung a pair of earrings and a bracelet on a tree and the next morning found five applicants under the branches."—New York Tribune.

Warning the Flirts.

A popular actress was condemning the flirt.

"The flirt," she said, "has a good time in the present—but what about the future? Many a girl is on the shelf to-day because she's put men on the rack yesterday."—Washington Star.

To Think About.

"She seems like a very nice girl."
"One whom it would be safe to marry?"

"Oh, no. No, I am safe enough for that. But she's so enough to think about marrying you only know when to stop."—Life.

him and cast his body into the river."

A priest makes the following deposition:
"August 15—German soldiers swarmed into the village of Schaffen and began to burn and pillage on the pretense that shots had been fired on them. One hundred and seventy houses were burned and twenty-seven civilians were murdered every possible way. They erected a gallows on which they said they proposed to hang me. They thrust me into a house which was on fire, but dragged me out again. They sent me off and at a distance of 200 yards they began shooting at me. I fell, and pretended to be dead, and so I escaped."

Continuing the statement says the commission of inquiry collected evidence that in the diocese of Malines alone twenty-six priests were killed without cause. Similar atrocities occurred in other dioceses. In the Liege diocese ten priests were shot, and in the Namur diocese twenty priests were killed. The priest of Spontin was first hung up by the toes and then by the hands and pierced with bayonets. In the diocese of Tournai, a bishop, 74 years old, was seized as a hostage and struck by a soldier. Three ecclesiastics were shot in this diocese."

The statement concludes with these words:
"Nothing can demonstrate more clearly the tendencies of the Germans in dealing with the members of the clergy than the words of a proclamation posted by the German authorities at Gievegne, September 6, which says: 'When hostages are taken the priests, burgomasters, and members of the communal administration are to be put at the head of the list.'"

ATTORNEY-GENERAL

similar action by the legislature.

"The right to protect public morals is inherent," he said. "It is not limited and cannot be lost or taken away nor even defined accurately as it is only bound by limitless sketches or future attainments, always governed by present exigency."

Referring to the liquor traffic he said:
"That it is an evil properly subject to police power is universally held by all courts."

Mr. Hogan answered the argument that there was no legal machinery for submitting the amendment, by saying that that was true, there never was authority for adopting any constitutional amendment. He called attention to the submission by anti-liquor interests of a state prohibition amendment. He called attention to the submission by anti-liquor interests of a state prohibition amendment by the same machinery used for the home rule amendment.

Mr. Hogan characterized the suit as "a specious travesty on law, morality and justice."

The case was started in the Franklin county common pleas court, where the validity of the home rule amendment was upheld, and taken to the supreme court after the court of appeals had affirmed in a perfunctory manner, the lower court's judgment.

Chess and War.

The origin of chess is shrouded in mystery. There is little doubt, however, that its birthplace was in India and that it is an offspring of a game called chaturanga, which is mentioned in oriental literature as in use fully 200 years before the Christian era. From India chess spread into Persia and thence into Arabia, and ultimately the Arabs took it into Spain and the rest of western Europe. The game was in all probability invented for the purpose of illustrating the art of war. The Arab legend upon this point is that it was devised for the instruction of a young despot by his father, a learned Brahmin, to teach him that a king, notwithstanding his power, was dependent for safety upon his subjects. The Greek historians credit the invention of the game to Palamedes, who, they claim, devised it to beguile the tedium of the siege of Troy during the Trojan war.

Sleepwalkers.

Many years ago an archbishop of Bordeaux attested the case of a young ecclesiastic who was in the habit of getting up during the night in a state of somnambulism, and, taking pen, ink and paper, composing and writing his sermons. When he finished one page he would read and correct it. In order to ascertain whether the somnambulist made use of his eyes the archbishop held a piece of pasteboard under his chin to prevent his seeing the paper upon which he was writing, but he continued to write on without being in the least inconvenienced.

It is related of Negretti, a sleepwalker, that he would sometimes carry a lighted candle, as if to give him light in his employment, but on a bottle being substituted he took it and carried it without apparently noticing the difference.

Curious Pictures.

In the famous galleries at Antwerp are certain pictures of old masters in which the jumble of ideas is as remarkable as the technique is fine. In one picture of heaven the archangels are armed with bows and arrows, and in a celebrated painting of "The Murder of the Innocents" the massacre is represented as taking place in a city of Holland. The parents of the children are stout burghers, the Roman soldiers are Dutch policemen armed with muskets, and the innocent infants are transformed into solid schoolboys in their woolen trousers and jackets and bobbed shoes.

A Bath a Month.

Apparently the people of Persia are not great believers in the old maxim "Cleanliness is next to godliness," for baths are only taken once a month by the people, when they go to the public baths and make amends, so to speak, for the infrequency of their ablutions by spending a whole day getting cleaned and trimmed. At the baths they are washed, shaved, dye their hair and nails, get shampooed and spend the rest of the day eating buns and drinking sherbet. There are fixed days for men and women, and on bath days a man goes about the streets shouting, "Hamum!" ("Bath day!"). After the bath the ladies have their hair

NATIONAL

CHARTER FOR A CHAPTER OF
PHI DELTA THETA FRATER-NITY GRANTED DENISON.

Newark Man Attended Convention at Birmingham—Granville News and Personals.

(Special to The Advocate)
Granville, Jan. 8.—With the re-opening of Denison University after the holidays, one important change was noticeable. The local fraternity of Alpha Nu Sigma was granted a charter last week by Phi Delta Theta.

While the attempt to secure a national charter from Phi Delta Theta has been made for some time, the news was a sudden and agreeable surprise to most of the student body. That a national fraternity with the high standing of Phi Delta Theta should grant a first petition, speaks unusually well for Denison and the members of Alpha Nu Sigma. It is doubtful whether such a thing has ever been done before in the history of the fraternity. The national convention at Birmingham, Ala., granted the petition, and the Denison chapter will be Iota of Phi Delta Theta.

This significant honor for Denison speaks volumes for her standing as a first-rate college. The fraternity of Phi Delta Theta has long been needed here, for she was the only prominent Greek letter society, with the exception of D. K. E., not represented at Granville. The national fraternities at Denison have been in cordial sympathy with the movement, and now they welcome, most heartily, the new brother.

Prof. Goodell of Denison, a Phi Delta in Franklin College, O. L. Swanson, Wayne C. Overturf, son of Mr. and Mrs. V. V. Overturf of Ninth street, Newark, and Paul F. Clark, represented Alpha Nu Sigma at Birmingham. Sixteen petitions were presented and only three were granted—those from Whitman College, Washington, and from the University of Utah, being the other two. The Denison petition received the largest number of votes ever given such a request.

May Phi Delta Theta at Denison carry forward the honored name which is known so widely and may she keep up the record already begun.

The twenty-four members of the Women's Music club of Granville were delightedly entertained by Mrs. Howard Darrow yesterday afternoon at her home in Main street, having been invited to meet Mrs. Ella May Smith of Columbus, who was Mrs. Darrow's house guest. Not least of the

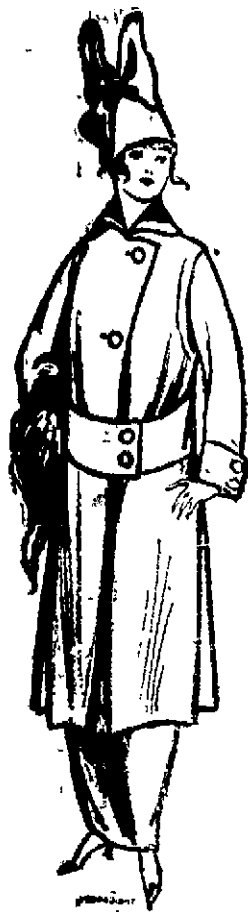

DON'T USE SOAP

ON YOUR HAIR.

When you wash your hair, don't use soap. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is just plain mulsified coconut oil, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap, and beats soaps or anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fluffy, wavy, and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.
